Whitworth College
2005-06 Annual Report

Mission

Whitworth's mission is to provide its diverse student body an education of mind and heart, equipping its graduates to honor God, follow Christ and serve humanity.

President's Message

I'm not great at the contemplative life.

I've been told I need to take time just "to be." To be what? I feel like I be quite a lot already. In between doing things, I often be. In fact, I can be and play horseshoes at the same time. I haven't quite got down when I'm in full be mode and when I'm just be-minus, so to speak. And that brings me to a quote I've never quite grasped: "To be or not to be? That is the question." No, it isn't. The question is, "To cut the grass or not to cut the grass?"

I jest. We all need contemplative time, and I more than most. We need to slow down enough to hear God, who sometimes whispers. We need to slow down enough to listen to those we love. We need to slow down enough to listen to those we don't love. We need to slow down enough to listen to our own souls. If Jesus needed to take time to be alone to pray (Matt.

14:23), how much more do we need to do the same thing?

But I love action! And our actions become hollow if we don't replenish our souls. So many good things happen when we get in the game. We learn and we teach; we contribute and we gain. I met Bryan Stevenson 15 years ago, shortly after he graduated from Harvard Law School. While at Harvard, he worked with an organization in Atlanta that represented death-row prisoners. Seeing injustice, he acted. Upon graduation, he turned down countless lucrative opportunities from elite law firms and went to work for some of those disgracefully underrepresented inmates. Recently, Prism magazine asked him how his faith influenced him. "For me, faith has to be connected to works – you have to do something with what you believe," he said. Believing in the redemption of Christ, Bryan acts upon it.

This report profiles just a few of Whitworth's many "doers." United by a hungry productivity gene, they demand even more of themselves than we require. The four profiled groups give more to others than anyone requires. As athletes, actors, scholars and rescuers, they plunge into the non-mandatory laboratory of action. They lift our spirits as they grow.

It's true. We can get overprogrammed with activities and neglect our interior lives. That's why we offer you – in addition to Whitworth's notable 2005-06 numbers, a rundown of exciting events from the past year, and lists of big-hearted donors – stories of some of the Whitworthians who produce returns on the immense generosity of all of you to whom we pay tribute and express our gratitude in this report.

Operating Activities

Tuition (net)	$28,641,719

Unrestricted gifts and grants	3,628,331
Investment income	1,073,581

Total operating revenue $43,261,680

Instruction and academic support	$23,608,076

General & administration	7,436,507
Student services	3,949,741

Total operating expenditures* $42,013,507

Record enrollment and continued strong support from donors contributed to solid revenue growth in Fiscal Year 2006. Rising enrollments also drove up most expense categories, particularly instruction and academic support. However, effective budget management and increased revenue from unprecedented 98 percent fall-to-spring freshman retention resulted in a $1.2 million operating surplus that was reserved for investment in residence-hall renovations, library and chapel upgrades and numerous other improvements to the campus and grounds.

* Does not include $3.5 million in depreciation on facilities and equipment. The college does not fund depreciation, but relies on surplus operating funds and donor gifts to upgrade and replace capital investments.

Non-Operating Activities

Restricted gifts for endowment, foundation and facilities	$ 5,823,039
Unrestricted gifts to endowment	237,368
Net investment income and capital appreciation	5,782,089
Prior-year accounting standard adjustment	(417,406)

Net total for non-operating activities $11,425,090

Strong investment returns and restricted gifts – including a pledge of more than $1 million from William and Peggy Welch for the Bruner-Welch Endowed Chair in Theology and a $1 million planned gift from a member of the board of trustees to establish a future scholarship fund for business students – contributed to $11.8 million in non-operating revenue primarily for the endowment and the foundation.

The endowment, invested in a diversified portfolio of domestic and international assets, earned a noteworthy 12.3 percent total return for the fiscal year, while The Whitworth Foundation's assets earned an 11.1 percent return. Combined, the long-term investment assets of the college grew to just under $100 million.

The opening this fall of the stately, 160-bed Duvall Hall dramatically enhanced the quality, quantity and character of campus housing options. The new residence hall was financed with long-term tax-exempt bonds at an attractive 4.3 percent interest rate.

Your generosity and your unwavering commitment to Whitworth's enduring mission to honor God, follow Christ and serve humanity undergird our strong financial position.

These figures are unaudited; the final auditor's report will be available in November.

Alumni-Participation Rate

Year	Participation Rate
2001-02	21.0%	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>With 2,562 alumni donors in Fiscal Year 2006, Whitworth's 25.8-percent alumni participation rate exceeded the previous year's high. The alumni-participation rate reflects the percentage of undergraduate degreed alumni who make a gift to Whitworth in any given year. This figure is an important measure of satisfaction that is carefully considered by outside ranking and granting organizations. With 400-plus new graduates each year, more than 100 alumni must be added to the annual donor rolls to maintain or improve the alumni-giving rate.</li> <li>In Fiscal Year 2006, 1,637 alumni, parents and friends made their first gift to Whitworth. New and continuing donors contributed $1,359,026 to The Whitworth Fund, which supports student scholarships, campus maintenance and other operational needs of the college. This is the second-highest total ever for The Whitworth Fund, and the highest in the last seven years. Thank you!</li> <li>Of Whitworth's 7,617 donors, nearly 46 percent belong to The 1890 Society, a giving club that recognizes donors who give consecutively for three or more years.</li> </ul>
2002-03	22.7
2003-04	23.4
2004-05	25.4
2005-06	25.8*

*This year's participation rate was calculated using a more accurate formula that will be used for future reporting. Had the same formula been used as in previous years, the alumni participation rate would have been 29.0%.

The Whitworth Foundation

The Whitworth Foundation was established in 1972 with the purpose of helping individuals establish planned gifts, such as charitable trusts and gift annuities, that ultimately support the Whitworth endowment.

This year, in addition to their bequests and outside trusts, alumni and friends donated a remarkable $3 million in new planned gifts to the foundation. These gifts provide an income for the donor and/or the donor's beneficiaries, with the additional benefit of reducing or eliminating capital gains taxes on appreciated assets and significantly reducing estate taxes. Perhaps more important is the fact that they ultimately support Whitworth.

We are extremely thankful to all who have included Whitworth in their estate plans. Your investment will yield great returns as our students take their place in the world having been prepared through their Whitworth "education of mind and heart"!

Determined Students Heed the Call of Hurricane Katrina

The students who helped clean up after Hurricane Katrina as part of a new Whitworth Jan Term study program, "Communities in Crisis," didn't forget the devastation they witnessed. Upon returning from Mississippi last January, they told their classmates and professors, families and friends, of seeing boats in trees, stairways leading to nowhere, an elegant platter lying, shattered, in mud.

They showed photos of broken belongings and broken lives. They asked others to pray, to remember, to give. And then, during Spring Break, they went back.

"We saw the need, felt the call, and returned to serve," says Lydia Garth, '08.

A group of 15 students organized the return trip. One student made transportation and housing arrangements. Another handled meals. Yet another coordinated the group's volunteer assignments through Presbyterian Disaster Assistance. Two Whitworth staff members accompanied the group as assistants.

In Pearlington, Miss., the students cleared debris from homes, sprayed for black mold, and made and stacked sandbags in knee-deep mud. They distributed food and clothing at God's Katrina Kitchen, and they cleaned their host families' homes and yards.

"There was still debris everywhere, missing street signs, and no power or water in occupied neighborhoods," says Dan Fry, '09. "An immense amount of work remains to be done."

Though their return experience was, in many ways, disheartening, the students' efforts weren't in vain.

"It was beautiful to see so much need and then do something about it," Garth says. "We helped change people's futures with our hands and brighten their days with our smiles. We helped families get a new start."

Theatre Students Reflect Reality in Original Production

Standing on stage and telling an audience about one's physical flaws is the stuff of nightmares for most people. For the cast of Mirror, Mirror: The Body Image Show, it's all in a night's performance. Mirror, Mirror is an original production created by Whitworth theatre students who are taking a stand against American culture's obsession with physical appearance.

During the performance, the actors draw from interviews, personal experiences and popular culture and use techniques such as improvisation, story theatre and sketch writing to explore the factors that shape perceptions of body image. Each new cast revises the show by incorporating personal experiences and information about current national trends. The actors hold a discussion session with audience members after each performance.

Since its creation in 1997, Mirror, Mirror has been performed at Whitworth, at area high schools and elementary schools, and on tour in Washington, Oregon and Southern California. A DVD recording of the production will soon be available for purchase by schools, community groups, and individuals.

The power of Mirror, Mirror was impressed upon Alicia Doyl, '07, a member of the 2006 cast, when, after a performance at Whitworth for high-school students, an emotional student thanked the actors for doing the show. The cast later learned the student was struggling with an eating disorder and that she was the reason her class had come to the performance.

"This show is important because it helps people become more aware of their own body-image issues," Doyl says, "and it lets them know they're not alone."

Fans + Fortitude = Final Four

When senior forward Todd Sabrowski of Whitworth's 2005 men's soccer team "bent" the ball into the net to score the winning golden goal in OT over Trinity University (Texas) in the national quarterfinal match, "The crowd went totally nuts," says Whitworthian sportswriter Colin Storm, '07.

Storm, who describes that electrifying moment as "one of my best athletics memories at Whitworth," was one of more than 1,500 Whitworth fans who enjoyed the NCAA Div. III playoffs, including the quarter-final game in Spokane that sent the Pirates to Greensboro, N.C., to compete in the 2005 Final Four. The Bucs' 19-2-1 season – the team's best ever – ended in Greensboro in the semifinals, when Minnesota's Gustavus Adolphus College scored the deciding goal early in the second half for a 2-1 victory.

As just the second team from the Northwest Conference ever to advance to the men's Final Four, the Bucs credit their fans' enthusiasm as a crucial component of the team's banner season. "Without the fans' support," says senior defenseman Trevor Osborne, "we wouldn't have been the same team."

In the afterglow of the Pirates' inspired season, two-time NWC Coach of the Year Sean Bushey speaks of his players – especially his seniors – with pride. "Jon Carlson, Evan Hendrickson, Trevor Osborne and Todd Sabrowski truly defined the team and willed us to be better than our physical gifts," he says. When asked how the Pirates got past the tough Trinity squad and into the Final Four, Bushey mentions the relentless pressure exerted by the Trinity team and says of his players' success, "We stayed strong and confident. That made the difference."

Grant Gives Student Scientists a Jump on the Future

Thanks to the Murdock Charitable Trust, 10 of Whitworth's best students pursued important scientific research during their summer breaks. A two-year, $109,000 grant from the trust, which has provided financial support for a number of innovative Whitworth programs, funded fellowships to allow Kate Fuller, Rachel Mellinger, Elizabeth Pempe and Nick Strand, all '07; Alisha Anderson, John Anderson (no relation), Preston Hoffman, Amy Schillaty and Kalen Spees, all '08; and Xander Knight, '09, to conduct summer research with Whitworth's newest science professors. Research topics range from neurodegenerative disorders to environmentally friendly methods for making plastics, and the research teams' goals are lofty: to improve treatments for deadly diseases, to advance space travel, to save the planet.

Grant director and Associate Professor of Physics Richard Stevens expects that, in addition to edifying current science majors, the program will attract additional funding from other national agencies. And the students are grateful for the opportunity to work with Whitworth science faculty on projects that have great potential to make a difference in people's lives.

Xander Knight's work with Assistant Professor of Physics John Larkin and the program's biomedical-optics research group involves researching a procedure known as photodynamic therapy, which uses photosensitizers and laser light to treat cancer tumors. The sophomore chemistry/physics major sees the research program as a major step in his education. "This program," he says, "has been an amazing tool for me to learn about the research field and to serve others right now through this project. It also provides me with a foundation and a desire to pursue further research."
