SCHOLARSHIP
at
WHITWORTH
UNIVERSITY
MAY 2009-MAY 2010

As you flip through the pages of this booklet, you'll catch a brief glimpse of the assortment of scholarly works that Whitworth University's faculty produced in 2009-10. Whitworth's commitment to academic excellence is reflected in its faculty's wide-ranging scholarship — from laboratory experiments resulting in journal articles to creative analysis presented at national conferences to original works of art and music shared with an admiring public.

Scholarly activity is viewed at Whitworth as being complementary to rather than in competition with teaching. In fact, Whitworth's professors engage students fully in the process of discovery and dissemination of new knowledge and in the creation of original contributions to their field.

This academic year marks the inauguration of Whitworth's 18th president, Beck A. Taylor, Ph.D. We are excited to share with you a portion of the scholarship that he has brought to our university. Please take a moment to meet the new scholar on campus.

Faculty Scholarship at Whitworth

Who We Are

The Whitworth faculty includes 149 Christian teacher-scholars. These committed teachers engage in scholarship to advance their understanding of the world and to bring new discoveries into their classrooms. Organizations beyond our campus have recognized the high quality of our faculty scholarship, and they support Whitworth research programs. Whitworth faculty members have received research grants from a broad range of organizations, including the Fund for the Improvement of Post-Secondary Education, the M.J. Murdock Charitable Trust, NASA, The National Endowment for the Arts, and the National Science Foundation.

What We Do

Whitworth faculty members are engaged in a wide array of research and scholarship projects. The work of our natural scientists includes investigating the physics of electric propulsion, studying organometallic chemistry in aqueous solutions, and reviewing Fibonacci numbers as quantum analogs. Scholars in the humanities conduct their daily classes and publish poetry, analyze histories of the American colonial and antebellum South, and compose biblical commentaries. In the course of their other teaching and research responsibilities, social scientists examine the effects of regional trade agreements on trade policy stability, analyze the impact of sexual abuse on male partners of female survivors, and evaluate ideas for reconstructing the political culture in Liberia. And faculty in the arts teach, perform, contribute to exhibits, create arrangements for jazz ensembles, direct staged readings in Spokane theatres, and display artwork based on and inspired by Gulf Coast communities in crisis.

Why We Do It

While teaching remains the central faculty responsibility at Whitworth, scholarship is also crucial. Faculty scholarship models lifelong learning for our students while keeping faculty members immersed in the joy of discovery and connected to the broader conversations of their academic disciplines. Some faculty conduct research and write monographs with their undergraduate students in special research programs that mentor students for graduate study. Some address disciplinary problems from explicitly Christian viewpoints as a unique contribution to discussions in the wider academy. And some integrate new knowledge into governmental policies and social programs to serve humanity. Regardless of faculty members' motivation, their dedication leads to a common outcome: the discovery and synthesis of knowledge to serve humanity.

Why We Want You to Know about It

The purpose of this annual publication is to share some of the ways in which Whitworth's faculty contributes to the world of knowledge. In the following pages you will read about recent publications, scholarly presentations, professional service, research grants, fellowships and awards. While this publication is not comprehensive, it does highlight the breadth and depth of faculty scholarship at Whitworth as it provides a small taste of the fruit of the productive work of the university's teacher-scholars.
