Faculty Scholarship at Whitworth

Who We Are The Whitworth faculty includes 156 Christian teacher-scholars. These committed scholars engage in research, writing and creative performance to advance their understanding of the world, enrich their teaching and to share their discoveries with the world and to bring new discoveries into their classrooms. Organizations beyond our campus have recognized the high quality of our faculty scholarship, and they support Whitworth research programs. Whitworth faculty members have received research grants from a broad range of organizations, including the Fund for the Improvement of Post-Secondary Education, The Lilly Foundations, the M.J. Murdock Charitable Trust, NASA, National Endowment for the Arts, National Science Foundation, and the Welch Family Foundation.

What We Do Whitworth faculty members are engaged in a wide array of research, creative production and performance and scholarly projects. The work of our natural scientists ranges from evaluating variations in land surface phenology to exploring educational and research opportunities for students in spaceflight and near-space physics. Scholars in the humanities publish poetry, measure the success of HIV/AIDS Non-Government Organizations among Nairobi's youth, research communication in the adult sibling relationship, and explore new methodologies facilitated by new technologies. Social scientists measure the success and failure of online political movements, examine relational maximization and affectionate communication in romantic relationships, and discuss the work of Costa Rica's many decisions for peace. And faculty in the arts perform, contribute to exhibits, create arrangements for jazz ensembles, and direct staged readings in Spokane theatres.

Why We Do It At Whitworth, teaching and scholarship are not seen as separate and competing spheres. Faculty scholarship models lifelong learning for our students while keeping faculty members immersed in the joy of discovery and connected to the broader conversations of their academic disciplines. Some faculty conduct research and write monographs with their undergraduate students in special research programs that mentor students for graduate study. Some address disciplinary problems from explicitly Christian viewpoints as a unique contribution to discussions in the wider academy. And some aid in the integration of new knowledge into governmental policies and social programs to serve humanity. Regardless of faculty members' motivation, their dedication leads to a common outcome: the discovery and synthesis of knowledge to serve humanity.

Why We Want You to Know about It The purpose of this annual publication is to share some of the ways in which Whitworth's faculty contributes to the world of knowledge. In the following pages you will read about recent publications, scholarly presentations, professional service, research grants, fellowships and awards. While this publication is not comprehensive, it does highlight the breadth and depth of faculty scholarship at Whitworth as it provides a small taste of the fruit of the productive work of the university's teacher-scholars.
