Your FAFSA application has been selected by the federal student aid processor for a review process called verification. As part of this process, Whitworth will compare the data on your FAFSA with your 2024 federal tax forms, tax transcripts, this verification form, and other financial documents. The law states that we have the right to request this information from you before we award federal student aid. If there are differences between your FAFSA data and the verification documentation, Whitworth will send the correction(s) electronically to the FAFSA processing system to have your information corrected; this could result in your financial aid award being revised. In this case, we will send you an email within a few days of the revision. To prevent your financial aid from being delayed, complete this form as soon as possible. Verification must be completed within 60 days from the start of the term to maintain your eligibility for work-study and must be completed no later than 120 days after the last date of enrollment, or by Sept. 18th, following the end of the academic year, whichever is earliest, or you will lose financial aid eligibility. Under the financial aid program rules (34 CFR, Part 668), we must review the requested information.
